

Anne Beninghof is an internationally recognized consultant, trainer and author in the learning and talent development fields. Her mission is to improve the quality of instruction for learners of all ages and in every field. Known for her dynamic, interactive virtual training as well as in-person sessions, Beninghof has worked in all 50 states and several countries. Her personalized coaching is practical and successful, with an emphasis on developing awareness of your best presentation style. Her most recent book, Caffeinated Training Design: An Engagement-Centered Process, has been met with rave reviews.