

Caffeinated Virtual Training: How to Keep Your Audience Awake and Learning

Do you want to design or facilitate online sessions that keep learners awake and away from multi-tasking?

Do you want to infuse creative learning activities to avoid the boredom of lecture?

Do you want your virtual or in-person sessions to be engaging, inspiring and have learners fully participating?

When content is presented in “caffeinated” ways, listeners become participants, participants become learners, and learners return to work excited and able to implement your ideas. Discover simple strategies any presenter, new or seasoned, can do to add a jolt of caffeine to virtual or in-person learning experiences.

Session objectives:

- Apply relevant learning science to the design process
- Examine and adapt more than a dozen ready-to-use activities for high-engagement in virtual sessions
